Content	Children can pay attention to their surrounding living environment, people, and things, which enhances their curiosity and motivation for learning.	Children can learn about different wetland animals from around the world, understand weather and seasons, and learn about the characteristics and habits of animals and learn to cherish nature.	Through interactive games led by fun docents, children learn knowledge about oral health.	Children learn about the relationship between daily life and water through the visit.	Visit the farm to listen to mentors explaining the principles and operations of organic farming and experience firsthand farming activities such as ploughing the soil.
